PROTECTORATE
OVER EGYPT IS
THING OF PAST

Lloyd George Makes Announcement
in House of Commons
People Are Liberated

WORK OUT OWN SALVATION

National Institutions Will Be Permitted Along Lines Best Suited to Populace

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Feb. 28.—Premier Lloyd George announced today in commons that the British protectorate over Egypt had been terminated, and that Egypt was free to work out such national institutions as might be suited to the aspirations of her people.

Egypt, with its population of 19,000,000, is a country of 10,000,000 foreigners, is nominally a part of the Turkish empire, but virtually constitutes a dependency of England. Its government is a hereditary monarchy whose heads, from 1882 to 1914, was the Khedive Abbas Hilmi.

The strong pro-German and pro-Turkish attitude of Abbas Hilmi early in the war led to his deposition and he was succeeded by his uncle, the former Prince Ahmed Faud, at one time president of the University of Egypt, who was invested with the title of Sultan Hussein Kemal. Abbas Hilmi became an exile and issued a proclamation from Constantinople in 1915, calling upon Egyptians and Syrians to rise against England, whom he charged with his overthrow. Later he was shown to have financed Bolo Pasha, the defeated agent, executed by the French in 1919. Abbas Hilmi's estates in Egypt were confiscated by the government.

Several factions exist in Egypt, all of them committed to independence or greater freedom from British rule. Followers of Abbas Hilmi and the nationalists led by Said Zagloul Pasha constitute the radicals; adherents of Sultan Hussein Kemal are the moderates. Said Zagloul Pasha was banished to Ceylon by the British on December 29, 1921, following serious rioting in Cairo, Alexandria, Tanta and other places, in which scores were killed, many wounded and hundreds of persons arrested.

The present disturbed conditions followed the rejection by an Egyptian delegation representing the sultan, of a proposed convention by the British government providing for a termination of the protectorate which has continued since 1914 and for new measures of native administration under British control.

Adley Yeghoun Pasha, former premier, spokesman for the Egyptians at the conference in London, in declining the proposals offered by Marquis Curzon, said the British government's plan "failed to satisfy the national aspirations of Egypt."

Field Marshal Allenby, the British administrator in Cairo, in a communication to the sultan transmitting the terms offered by Marquis Curzon, British foreign secretary, said: "Scarcely a generation has passed since Egypt was rescued from anarchy and there are signs that the extreme elements in the nationalist movement are even now capable of plunging her back into the abyss from which she has so recently been raised." Viscount Allenby declared that "the British empire must have firm guarantees against any menace to its interests" and that martial law would cease as soon as an act of industry had been passed and had become operative in all the civil and criminal courts in Egypt.

The terms offered to the Egyptians by Great Britain included an agreement to grant independence on three conditions: first, the appointment of advisers for the ministries of finance and justice; second, control over foreign relations; and, third, the retention of a British army of occupation. It was reported that the delegation accepted all three conditions, the only disputed point being the question as to where the British troops should be stationed. Adley Pasha demanded that they be confined to the guarding of the Suez canal, but Lord Curzon insisted they be stationed at various points in the canal zone as well as in Alexandria and Cairo.

The return home of the Egyptian delegates on December 8, 1921, was signified by a box of British goods in the city of Elif, other towns soon following in conformity with a plan of the moderate nationalists to adopt the "non-cooperation" methods of Mahatma Gandhi in India. Most of the population of Egypt is Mohammedan and in adopting the Gandhi policy they followed the lead of their Mohammedan brethren in India now allied to the nationalist movement of the Hindus. The followers of Abbas Hilmi and Said Zagloul Pasha, meanwhile, turned to more violent measures.

First Part of Honeymoon Will Be Spent at Weston Park With the Earl and Countess of Bradford.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—Princess Mary, only daughter of King George and Queen Mary, was married to Viscount Lascelles with all the pomp and dignity befitting a royal wedding. The ceremony began in Westminster Abbey at 11:30 o'clock, and soon thereafter the couple were pronounced man and wife, while chimes of Westminster rang out a happy message and the vast crowds gave a tumultuous greeting.

It is understood that Viscount Lascelles and Princess Mary will pass the first part of their honeymoon at West Park, the Shropshire home of the Earl and Countess of Bradford, who are distantly related to Lord Lascelles.

Weston Park is a charming residence, set amid beautiful surroundings and is in a portion of the country as yet quite unknown to the Princess, who is expected to pass about three weeks there. It is one of the most comfortable residences along the whole of the Welsh border. Princess Mary's uncle, the marquis of Cambridge, has his home at Shotton, a few miles away.

There is some talk of a state ball being held at Buckingham palace in the early summer in honor of their marriage. These functions went out of fashion but they formed a great feature of the court season in the days of Queen Victoria when Alexandra, then princess and now the dowager queen, usually acted as the queen's representative.

In those days these entertainments were most deadly dull and King Edward used to be quite frank in expressing his gratification when they came to an end. The ball that is now suggested would, however, be on quite different lines, and the formal state quadrills with which those balls used to be opened would be eliminated.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Feb. 28.—About 1000 women and girls were among the guests made happy by receipt of invitations to Princess Mary's wedding to Viscount Lascelles at Westminster Abbey today. With them the all-important questions were "What shall I wear?" and "What will the bridal party wear?"

Within certain limits, the state chamberlain, who designates the form of apparel for state occasions, settled the matter. He prescribed "morning dress with hats, also orders and decorations." Dressmakers carried the thing a bit further by announcing that it would be a "brocade" wedding, that material being favored by several of those socially prominent women whose selections usually govern.

The state chamberlain's ukase ruled out the wearing of veils, plumes and trains. In the interests of economy this had been the rule at the court of St. James since early in the war. The result was some diminution of brilliancy, but the sacrifice contributed to the comfort of the feminine part of the wedding congregation as Westminster Abbey has long been termed "a vast collection of draughts."

The choice of morning dress was made "in view of probable cold weather and the continued prevalence of the influenza epidemic." It is recalled that many women who attended the wedding of Princess Patricia at the Abbey three years ago, when more elaborate and less protective "court" dress was worn, were almost blue with cold before the two hours' ceremony ended.

CARSON CITY GAME

The Tonopah high school basketball team suffered defeat last night when the Carson City basketball team carried off the honors by a score of 26 to 21. It was an even score at the close of the first half, 11 to 11, but during the last few minutes of play in the second half the Carson team substituted three new players. With the opening of the state tournament on Wednesday evening the Tonopah boys will contest with Winnemucca.

The members of the Tonopah basketball team and their cheerleaders are being royally entertained in Carson City, where they will remain on "off tomorrow." HARDING TALKS
SOLDIER BONUS
SATISFACTORILY

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 28.—Harding, MacNider, national commander of the American Legion, today conferred with President Harding on the bonus situation, urging immediate enactment of the legislation. MacNider and John Thomas Taylor, legislative agent of the Legion, who accompanied the commander, declared on leaving the White House they were "perfectly satisfied."

There will be no delay in the passage of the soldier bonus legislation, the Legion representatives declared, adding that the president is "heart and soul with the American Legion" and understood fully its position. Taylor said they did not discuss with the president any plan for raising the bonus.

CONDITION OF
HAMILTON REID
SATISFACTORY

The condition of Hamilton Reid, who was dangerously injured Sunday night when he fell headlong down the Argonne shaft in the Divide district, was reported this afternoon as satisfactory. The temperature of the patient was normal, but it is yet a little early to determine whether he suffered internal injuries. Mrs. Dora May Davidovich, graduate nurse, is attending the patient, a guarantee that his every want will be looked after.

While it was previously reported that Mr. Reid fell down the Hercules or Giant shaft, such was not the case, but on the other hand, it was the Argonne shaft, the property having been purchased from Charles Kielhofer by employees of the Tonopah Mining company who organized what was known as the Argonne Mining company. The property was formerly known as the Gold Reef, and adjoins the Hercules. A road leads to the Argonne, and in some manner Messrs. Reid, Beck and Graves left the main highway and entered this road. When Mr. Reid started his search for the right road leading to Tonopah he evidently saw a house that stands near the Argonne shaft and which, by the way, is not numbered. He started toward the building, thinking that someone might be inside who could direct him properly. The shaft is 4x4 feet and has a depth of close to 45 feet, and there is no timber in place. Many jagged rocks protrude from the work, and the wonder is that Mr. Reid was not instantly killed.

Mrs. Reid is expected to arrive from Los Angeles tomorrow evening.

NARCOTIC DEN

MEN ARRESTED

Prisoners Suspected of Knowing Much Concerning Murder of William Desmond Taylor

POLICE IS TIPPED BY WOMAN

Housekeeper Says Men Threatened Taylor's Life for Interfering With Business

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 28.—Six men were arrested here today in a raid on what the police termed a narcotic den, and detectives working on the mystery of the Taylor murder were engaged in questioning the men. The police expressed the belief the arrests will develop a connection with the murder of the film director. The men gave their names as John Herkey, William Kirby, William East, George Calvert, Ray Lynch and Harry Amorheim.

The arrests followed 24 hours of investigation by the police in information which they said was purported to be concerning threats against the life of Taylor, uttered a short time before the mysterious slaying. The men were arrested upon information furnished the police by Mrs. John Rupp, who said she kept house for them. They were engaged, she informed the police, in furnishing liquor and drugs to a motion picture actress and others in the Hollywood section. Two days before the shooting of Taylor, the police declare, she informed them that Kirby and Calvert uttered threats against the film director for interfering with their business.

These two, she said, were extremely nervous on the night of February 1 and were away from the place during the early evening, and both stayed up all night. This was the night that Taylor was killed. The police are making an exhaustive examination into the information divulged by the woman and declare that while they consider it highly important, they are taking into consideration the possibility that she may have informed upon the men and caused their arrest possibly from motives of jealousy or other personal reasons.
